

Crossing The Line

Comedians, Politicians & Shock Jocks

A timely and entertaining look at the limits of freedom of speech.

By Emmy Award-Winner, Producer
& Professor, Teja Arboleda, M.Ed.

Creator of Ethnic Man![®], Healing Racism, Diversity Elementary[™] & RaceOff[™]

How far is too far?

Crossing The Line:
Comedians, Politicians & Shock Jocks

Teja Arboleda, M.Ed.

This multimedia performance-lecture by veteran actor/producer/professor Teja Arboleda (Ethnic Man![™] Gene Therapy & Healing Racism[©]), digs deep into the freedom of speech issue. By asking the essential question: Where is the line, and who is allowed to cross it?, Arboleda challenges the audience to consider the consequences of institutionalized and cultural assumptions and stereotypes reinforced by the famous and powerful.

In keeping with his other nationally acclaimed one-man shows, Arboleda offers fun and extremely engaging ways to learn and heal. Using his signature fast-paced humor, statistics, facts, audience participation and multimedia examples, Crossing The Line opens Pandora's box of media faux pas, and let's loose America's reaction to the powerful and notable such as Michael Richards, Don Imus, Rosie O'Donnell and Al Franken.

Teja Arboleda, M.Ed. is a college professor of media, 22 year veteran TV producer (FRONTLINE, Discovery, Chronicle, etc.), Emmy Award-winner, 14 year veteran performance-lecturer (over 550 shows in 48 states), creator of the feature-film Got Race[©], and author of In the Shadow of Race[©].

Arboleda is African-Am/Native-Am/Filipino-Chinese & German-Danish, and he grew up in Japan.
